HOLTZMAN GIVES HIS VIEWS

Democratic Candidate for Mayor Opens His Campaign with Speech Before Eighth Ward Citizens.

A TISSUE OF SOPHISTRY

THREADBARE CHARGES FULSOMELY REHASHED PRETTY WORDS.

Voters Are Told that Mayor Bookwalter's Administration Has Been a Failure.

LARGE PROMISES MADE

REPUBLICAN OFFICIALS VICIOUSLY ATTACKED BY KEACH'S MAN.

Holtzman Fails to Clear His Own Record in the Keynote Address-Chilly Crowd Present.

The opening of the Democratic city campaign last night in the hall at Massachusetts avenue and Bellefontaine street, in the Eighth ward, was unmistakably "frost." A good-sized crowd was there, the candidates were there and John W. Holtzman delivered his keynote, but still the affair was a "frost," either because there was nothing to arouse the audience to the slightest degree of enthusiasm or because the audience refused to be aroused to such a state. The keynote fell flat.

The meeting was actually funereal comwared with the demonstration accorded Mayor Bookwalter when he delivered his opening address. A st every sentence the mayor uttered was eneered and applauded; Mr. Holtzman was interrupted by applause barely half a dozen times during his long speech. Mr. Holtzman occupied just an hour in delivering his address, but had it been properly punctuated by applause it would have required at least half again as long. And it was not because the audience was not with him and ready and anxious to wax enthusiastic. When he appeared on the stage and again when he was introduced the crowd cheered and applauded earmly, but almost from the moment he started to speak the enthusiasm vanished, sithough his auditors were patient and stayed with him to the end. The lack of enthusiasm was due apparently to the fact that Mr. Holtzman's speech was merely a rehash of the tirades against Mayor Bookwaiter and his administration which have been repeated time and again within the just two months in the columns of the Senthel and the News. Mr. Holtzman had nothing new to offer and his platitudes were not appreciated. LINCOLN AND McCRAY. The times when Mr. Holtzman was most liberally applauded were when he quoted Abraham Lincoln's famous utterance, "Govetument of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth," and again when he quoted Judge McCray as saying that Bookwalter could not be defeated. One or two of his sarcastic flings at the mayor provoked laughter and half-hearted applause and when he concluded the audience gave him a perfunctory demonstration, but for the most part his hearers were unresponsive.

The hall was well filled, but the Democratic managers had wisely chosen a small hall so that there might be no chance of empty seats. There were less than 200 chairs. Everyore was occupied and several persons stood throughout the meeting, but at that the crowd did not exceed 250. There were five or six women in the audience,

Thomas J. Clark, Democratic committeeman for the Eighth ward, presided and salled the meeting to order shortly after 8 o'clock. Mr. Holtzman, William M. Fogarty, candidate for city clerk, and Edward W. Little, candidate for police judge, occupied meats on the platform with the chairman and when they appeared they were cordially greeted. Mr. Fogarty was introduced First, but he did not attempt to make a speech, saying he realized that everyone there had come to hear the candidate for mayor. Mr. Little spoke at some length, but he was uneasy, ungrammatical and unmavincing. Incidentally he stole some of FORMER MICHIGAN OFFICIAL REr. Heltzman's thunder, as he attempted make a play on Mayor Bookwalter's slo-"Stand up for Indianapolis," that was simost identical with the one Mr. Holtzman made at the close of his address.

Holtzman's Address.

Mr. Holtzman spoke of Mayor Bookwalter's record as one that deserves the condemnation of every good citizen, and then he took up the mayor's opening speech of the campaign. He said:

"In his opening speech, while Mayor Bookwalter professed to discuss his record, he was strangely silent as to some of its features that have attracted public attention. He did not speak of the flint rock macadam for paving; nor that he had employed and was paying eight sprinkling sweeping inspectors, when the work and been done by two under former adminstrations; nor that he had paid hundreds f dollars for the sprinkling of streets that and never seen a sprinkling cart; nor of the orinkling coctract to the Kenningtons, sich cost the taxpayers of the city of Indianapolis $7,500 more than if it had been et to the lowest bidder; nor of the hundreds of dollars paid them for work which they had never performed; nor did he tell als audience that his administration was ng the books of the market house on the cuffs of the market master; nor of the money illegally paid for an assistant to the city cierk and his locse system of bookthe books of the city clerk's office; nor CONTINUED ON PAGE 8, COL. 3.)

The hearing of the Parks case consumed nearly all the time of the convention yesterday and was a bitter contest. Early in the day when the credentials committee had reported, throwing the contest back to the convention itself. Parks saved trouble by heeding the ruling of President Buchanan and vacating the hall with his men. Later, during the afternoon, he and his men were called back to plead their cause, and from 3 o'clock till after 9 o'clock the matter was threshed out. Then a vote was taken with the result announced. Parks was jubilant to-night. He was escorted from the convention to the Coates House by a group of admirers, among whom was D. Pollock, business agent of the Newark local, who had made the motion to seat Parks. "I knew it would go that way." said Parks. "I knew it all the time. I don't go into no fight unless I know where I'm at. There was no doubt of it. I had the men with me, just as I said I would all the time. This puts me right where I was and one is satisfied and things are lovely." "I have no statement to make," said Buchanan. "The moment for the helping hand of the government to be extended cannot be much longer delayed if the laboring population of the islands of St. Kitts and Nevis are to be kept from starvation. An appalling condition of poverty exists. The estates have been compelled to lessen their expenses owing to the long drought and able-bodied men and women are hardly earning enough to supply their daily wants.' The Times, of the British island of St Vincent, blames the government for the misery prevailing since the volcanic eruption in that island, adding that starvation and disease are killing many persons, and that a large number are half naked and homeless. Laborers of both sexes sleep in sheds and tattered tents erected a year ago, "harbors of disease and immorality, and disgrace to the colony."

LONDON, Sept. 23.-The political crisis has taken on a phase which lends to the present situation an historical and constidented interest. The King has interfered, not unconstitutionally or beyond the powers vested in the crown, but in the exercise of his prerogatives, to an extent never dreamed of in the Victorian era.

Premier Balfour's continued presence at Balmoral has given rise to much surmise and comment, but the Associated Press This Will Result in Withdrawal of is able to say definitely that it is due to MARSHAL PROBABLY WILL GET A | the King's determination not to assent to the formation of a new Cabinet until thoroughly satisfied that its personnel and combination are such as to assure the efficient carrying on of the affairs of the empire, pending the resumption of Parliament. For years Cabinets were formed or ministerial vacancies filled with the mere formal presentation to the sovereign of the names of the new ministers. King Edward has done away with this tradition. He has spent the last few days in constant discusments. Ministers now holding office and those nominated for office have been summoned to Balmoral to join in these conferences and all have been subjected to a degree of interrogation such as has surprised even those who knew King Edward intimately as Prince of Wales. To such an extent is King Edward holding his power of veto in reserve that now he is almost regarded by the inner circles as more the Cabinet-maker than Mr. Balfour himself. Though, with his usual tact, the King has refrained from expressing any political views or infringing the initiative belonging to the ministers, this has not prevented him expressing his genuine desire, amounting almost to a command, that steps be taken to remedy the scan-Boles killed young Friborn with an ax. by the report of the South African War least a month. luring the last few days at Balmoral with Lord Lansdowne, Mr. Broderick, Lord Fisher, who was president of the South African war commission; Lieutenant-General T. Kelly-Kenny, and other military authorities, the King is said to have expressed the opinion that Lord Lansdowne's record as war secretary was due more to the badness of the system then in vogue than to any defect in Lord Lansdowne's own judgment. King Edward has not shared the keen public indignation against Lord Lansdowne aroused by the report of the South African war commission, and after a minute examination of the circumstances he is understood to have consented to his lordship continuing as foreign minister. This decision has not prevented His Majesty frankly telling the ministers that he wanted something done to improve the military muddle and that he hoped some man would be appointed who, with the commission's report as a basis, would be capable of changing the system which rendered inefi-ciency unavoidable. The question of having some general notably Lord Kitchener, as head of the war office, has been keenly discussed at Balmoral between the King and the ministers, but the Associated Press understands that the concensus of opinion was
